WELCOME

We are happy to have you on the Clemson University campus today to share our pride in Memorial Stadium and the kind of football that is played here. It is our wish that you might find time during this visit to walk or drive about the campus to see other points of beauty and interest.

This property little more than 100 years ago was the John C. Calhoun estate. In 1888 Thomas Green Clemson willed to the State of South Carolina the property for development into an institution of scientific education. Materially and spiritually Mr. Clemson's will has been fulfilled through the years.

The rate and degree of progress at Clemson since 1950 have been particularly gratifying. In this span, over $36 million have been spent on permanent improvements on campus, while academically the one-time small college has been evolving into one of the nation's most respected universities.

You might find particularly interesting the contrast between the old, but stately, Tillman Hall with its clock tower and the new $3 million library nearing completion a short distance away. We think you'll agree that there exists character in both edifices.

Today's game brings together two fine groups of young men. We are confident that the words of General Douglas MacArthur penned earlier this century are as appropriate as then:

Upon the fields of friendly strife
Are sown the seeds that
Upon other fields on other days
Will bear the fruit of victory.

We hope you will come to see us often.

Frank Howard, Head Football Coach

On Second Quarter Century

Frank Howard begins his second quarter century as head coach of the Tigers this season and he is hoping that the second 25 doesn't begin like the first one ended.

Last season was Howard's third worst on record in Tigertown. But prior to this there had been 10 consecutive seasons of .500 ball or better, which is something not many coaches can boast of.

Not only is Howard one of 12 active coaches with 100 or more wins, but he has coached in nearly every post-season all-star game, given lectures and clinics all over the United States and Europe, carried six of his teams to major bowl games and won coach-of-the-year honors on various occasions.

In 11 years of Atlantic Coast Conference competition, Clemson has an overall 71-47-2 mark, second only to Duke. Against league teams only, the Tigers are 43-22-1 going into the 1965 season, which also ranks second.

In 12 years of ACC wars Clemson has scored 2,225 points, more than any team in the league; and given up 1,515 points, fewest in the league.

The Century Club . . .

Twelve coaches who are at major football institutions (as classified by the National Collegiate Athletic Bureau) have now won 100 or more games in their careers. The "Century Club" lost one of its members this past season when Dr. Eddie Anderson of Holy Cross retired after 39 years as a head coach and winning 201 games. Buff Donelli of Columbia should enter the charmed circle this season. He enters the year with 99 triumphs. Coach Frank Howard of Clemson ranks sixth in the nation for the most wins in a career. Listed below are the "Century Club" members:

Penny Edwards—"MISS TIPARILLO."

What does she mean "cigars...cigarettes...Tiparillos"?

You'll be hearing that chant more and more—now that Tiparillos have arrived. And arrived they have. In all the right places. With all the right people.

The new Tiparillo has a neat, trim shape. It looks young and debonair. And its pearly, pliable tip pays more than lip service to your smoking pleasure.

And never before such mildness! The most careful blending of choicest imported tobaccos has seen to that. So, too, has the exclusive, veinless Ultra Cigar Wrapper* that burns so evenly and smoothly it insures complete mildness.

You can even see the mildness. The surprisingly whiter ash is visible evidence. Smoker's proof. Here is flavor you don't have to inhale to enjoy.

"Cigars...cigarettes..." Who knows, maybe someday it will be just "Tiparillos!"

Why don't you ask for one today?

*T.M. GENERAL CIGAR CO.

Tiparillos are on sale at this stadium.

How do athletes handle athlete's foot?

They follow their trainers' advice and use Desenex® for prevention and treatment

It's excellent protection against itching, cracking and irritation of Athlete's Foot. Helps prevent spreading, too. No wonder Desenex is the Athlete's Foot treatment most widely used by college football trainers.

We know you don't have a trainer to keep you on your toes. But that's no reason to suffer from Athlete's Foot. Start using Desenex yourself. Avoid Athlete's Foot problems with Desenex Powder or new, cooling Desenex Aerosol—and for treatment use Desenex Ointment. Desenex is guaranteed to work or your money back.

GIVE IT EVERY- THING YOU'VE GOT!

That's what wins football games. That's what takes a man all the way to the top, whatever his field of endeavor. If you've got what it takes to be that kind of man . . . if you have the chance to take ROTC, make what you've got count. Go for an Army commission. That way, come commencement, you'll have two good things going for you: your college degree, and the gold bars that mark you a leader of men . . . tested, trained, trusted.

GET IN— STAY IN ARMY ROTC!

TEX-A-ROBIC

WASTE TREATMENT PLANTS

The Tex-A-Robic sewage treatment process involves the decomposition of liquid sewage by biological oxidation and the reduction of sewage solids by aerobic digestion. The latter function is achieved by continuous aeration resulting in the addition of oxygen to the sewage until an acceptable percentage of solids has been converted to inert sludge.

The Spiral Action of the Tex-A-Robic Extended Aeration plant shown below continually suspends the solids in the aeration section. They flow through an inlet aperture into the clarifier section where the sludge particles settle to the bottom to be pumped back into the aeration section. The recirculation provides additional bacteriological breakdown until the sludge reaches the inert state. In a typical installation, sewage will be treated for 24 hours, and then clarified for four hours in a single tank. Prefabricated—ready to install.

The N. C. STATE Series

Clemson and N. C. State have met on the gridiron 35 times dating back to 1899 prior to today's clash, but only once before (1902) have the two teams ever opened the season against each other.

The most popular spot on the schedule for the Tiger-Wolfpack meeting has been their third outing. No less than 14 times have the clubs sparred with two other opponents before coming to grips in the third encounter.

Twice (1904 and 1934) the yearly struggle was the sixth game; once (1958) it was the eighth; and once (1961) the two clubs closed the season against each other.

But this late season dueling will become the fad starting in 1966 as the series moves either to the seventh or ninth game of the season.

Coach Frank Howard and Coach Earle Edwards of State usually play it pretty close to the vest. Only in 1959 and 1961 when the Tigers won by 23-0 and 20-0 scores has there been more than two touchdowns separating the two coaches.

In '56, '57 and '58 only six points separated the two at the final outcome. In the immediate past three games seven, four and nine points have been the separation.

State and Clemson have become almost traditional on each other's schedule. Except for a one-year absence in 1960 and a four-year break between 1952-55, the two teams have met every year dating back to 1939. There was a four-season drought just prior to that skein.

The two land grant colleges clashed five times from the initial contest in 1899 through 1906, but then there was a 20-year span (until 1926) when there was no gridiron activity between the two.

Both schools were charter members when the Southern Conference was formed in 1921 and each was a trail blazer in the formation of the Atlantic Coast Conference in 1953.

Clemson holds a decided edge in the overall series, 25-9-1; and Howard is ahead 14-6-0 in his 20 games with the 'Pack and holds a 5-3-0 lead in his head-on meetings with Edwards.

Clemson claims 15 shutouts in the series, State five. The Tigers' longest winning streak in the series is five (twice) and State's two (twice).

These 12 N. C. State players visit Memorial Stadium today in opening the 1965 season. Top row, left to right, are defensive end Norman Cates, guard Flake Campbell, tackle Steve Warren, defensive back Greg Williams, tackle Dennis Byrd and linebacker Charles Amato. In the bottom row, left to right, are tackle Leland Hughes, center Charles Bradburn, end Bill Gentry, wingback Gary Rowe, fullback Bill Wyland, and guard John Stec. In the center are two N. C. State dormitories, Bragaw (foreground) and Lee (background).

1965 Wolfpack Players . . .

Football Rules Change

by ABB CURTIS

Supervisor of Southwest Conference Officials

VIRTUALLY UNLIMITED substitution will appear in NCAA football games during the 1965 season. Explaining the new substitution rule is Abb Curtis, a member-at-large of the NCAA Football Rules Committee and Supervisor of Southwest Conference Officials.

COLLEGE football fans — and there will be more than twenty million again this year — will be pleased that their favorite pastime has been stripped of the confusion which was brought on by the substitution rule that prevailed in 1964. So will officials, coaches and players, for that matter.

If you do, or did, a doubletake at your first college game this fall, it will be a normal sensation.

That game you are watching will look much like something you've seen in the past, chiefly because of the new substitution rule. You will not, however, experience a this-is-where-I-came-in reaction, because the sight of the new game—or perhaps a return-of-the-old—will keep you entranced.

College football in 1965 will be much like it was in the early '50's. That was the day of two-platoon football and the latest revisions in the substitution rule will give you a reasonable and, we think, popular facsimile of the old attraction.

The latest change represents the final of a series of compromises toward liberalization that began shortly after the return to double-duty football in 1953. The Football Rules Committee believes it finally has stabilized the substitution rule by arriving at an acceptable balance between those who desire extreme specialization and those who feel every player should go both ways.

However, the only time that a player must go both ways (offensively and defensively) is on downs when the ball changes hands. In this situation there is a metamorphosis on both offense and defense, for the blockers suddenly turn into tacklers and the defenders become blockers.

Basically, the new substitution rule differs from the previous two-platoon regulation by its regulation of when full-team changes may be made. Today's free substitution hinges on change of possession rather than on time-outs.

Rule 3, Section 5, Article 1 has been revised to permit unlimited substitution (1) between periods, (2) after a score or Try (for extra point), (3) when Team B is awarded a first down or, (4) when after a kick Team A is awarded a first down. Under the above circumstances the clock will be stopped when the ball is declared dead to permit free substitution. Each team also is allowed to make two wild card substitutions at any time during the game while the clock is stopped or running.

It should be remembered that a called time out does not necessarily give a team the privilege of substituting more than two players. The clock may be stopped for substitutions only on the conditions where multiple substitution is permitted (between periods, after a score or Try, when Team B is awarded a first down and when Team A is awarded a first down after a kick.) The clock starts on ready-for-play after these substitutions.

Changes pertained to substitutions made during excessive time-outs, stopping the clock and starting the clock also were made. Other rule changes for 1965 are far less significant. Revisions have been made to permit the use of a two-inch tee, to prohibit the use of helmet or head maliciously on any part of opponent's body, and in the phrasing of the free-kick-out-of-bounds rule as it pertains to touching by the receiving team.

The NCAA Football Rules Committee believes its newly-adopted substitution rule follows in logical progression toward the consistent improvement of the collegiate game, the popularity and public acceptance of which was evidenced again this past fall by a new record attendance for the 11th straight year—23,354,477 people attended collegiate games. The five per cent increase in attendance over the previous season was the greatest single increase ever.

The new rule—a refinement of the 1964 rule—eliminates the only objectionable effect of that rule—the delay of the game penalty to substitute a defensive unit on fourth down—and has the following additional benefits:

1. Offers a maximum development of the player's individual skills.
2. Encourages future stability in the playing rules.
3. Makes rules administration more efficient and easier for both coaches and officials.
4. Brings collegiate football, high school, and junior college football more into uniformity in practice, while preserving the identification of the college game.

It is evident that the collegiate rules are being stabilized because there need to be fewer rules changes this year than for many years. It is evident for this reason as well as for many others that collegiate football, the original game, is in a vigorous, healthy state.

In 1963, we called Riviera "America's bid for a great new international classic car."

If imitation is any sign, we were pretty good prophets.

There are a lot of rough copies of Riviera on the road these days. (Even some of the cars made across the seas are straining to look like our Riviera.) And it flatters us. It seems our prediction has come true. Riviera is America's great international classic car. And it also seems to us that you would greatly prefer to own an original, not a counterfeit. Mainly because if you do settle for one of the imitations, you'll be nagged by doubts. "Wouldn't Riviera's Super Turbine transmission do a better job of easing me through that traffic jam?" "Would Riviera's plush bucket seats and squishy carpets and eye-soothing instrument panel make me feel more relaxed after a long trip?" "Would Riviera's incredible suspension and steering do a better job on that tight corner?" There is only one way to forestall these bothersome thoughts. Ask yourself first—"Wouldn't I really rather have America's one and only international classic car?"

Wouldn't you really rather have a Buick?

An American Characteristic

by FRED RUSSELL
The Nashville Banner

One of college football's best friends is FRED RUSSELL, sports editor of the Nashville Banner. His "Sidelines" column is well written and widely read.

COLLEGE football has been described as "the element of American life most characteristic of our nationality." Another season reinforces the validity of this distinction.

The game appeals to the emotions like no other form of athletic competition. Spectators at college games, setting new overall attendance records every year, revel in exercising the deep-rooted passions of joy, courage, sympathy, sorrow, rivalry, risk, sense of fairness and loyalty.

College football crowds aren't there just to admire the skill of some passer or the cleverness of a runner or the accuracy of a place-kicker or punter. They are there wanting to see their team win.

Thrilling touchdown plays are fine, like getting the end piece of the cake with the thick icing. But the overwhelming majority of college game-goers would rather see their team win, even if it's 2-0 in a dogged defensive struggle, than to witness a dozen exciting scoring plays during a game which their team loses.

Can you think of a more hollow attraction than an exhibition contest between two college football squads?

The feel of the crowd is a standard fixture at college games. From September through November there are just ten such occasions, full of color and flavor, for the release of our competitive impulses. And so often in college football the anticipation is exceeded by the realization.

Most of the college players on the field are whamming and slamming for the sheer joy of proving themselves to themselves. Ernest Thompson Seton once said: "Manhood is the first law of education." Of course football is just one of many opportunities available in the quest for manhood, but the competitive flame in the clash of spirited, cohesive forces is the rouser that attracts throngs to America's college stadiums.

Imperfection itself, among young athletes of 18 to 22, is part of college football's crowd appeal. Nothing in sports can be duller than perfection. The human experience of errors in action provides one of the world's liveliest shows. Somehow, the happiness reaped by players in the arena who withstand and overcome these mistakes often spills over into the crowd.

Many spectators are embraced by the camaraderie of college football. It can be felt by anybody. It was responsible for the following bit of nonsense:

A jovial fellow sitting 'way up in Row 65 got to his feet time and again and yelled, "Hey! Gus! Look here, Gus!"

Whereupon, down in Row 20 a man would rise, look up and wave. This friendly exchange went on interminably, until finally the man down in Row 20 shouted back to the greeter and advised him to stay in his seat and look at the game. "And besides," he finished, "my name's not Gus."

In the college football atmosphere are preserved some of the delights that go with life. "We have plenty of grim things facing us," said President Harlan Hatcher of University of Michigan. "We need the relief we find in sports. It's not only necessary to survive, but to live with some positive sense of joy and fulfillment."

CLEMSON ALMA MATER

Where the Blue Ridge yawns its greatness
Where the Tigers play;
Here the sons of dear old Clemson
Reign supreme alway.

Chorus

Dear old Clemson, we will triumph
And with all our might
That the Tiger's roar may echo
O'er the mountain height.

Death Valley Record . . .

In the past 23 seasons, 21 teams have made appearances in Clemson Memorial Stadium, now pretty widely known as "Death Valley." Only three teams (George Washington, Villanova and Maryland) have an edge on the Tigers on home ground and two of these (GW and Villanova) have just played one game in Memorial Stadium. Below is a season-by-season rundown of Clemson's record at home since the stadium was built and used for the first time in 1942:

1942	Clemson 32 Clemson 0 Clemson 12	Presbyterian 13 George Washington 7 Furman 7	Won by 19 Won by 5	Lost by 7

ADDITIONAL FACTS

Clemson's longest winning streak at home is 10 games and occurred during the 1949-50-51 seasons. A nine game skein came during the 1957-58-59 seasons. The Tigers have lost three in a row at home once (1962) and have lost two in a row four times (1943, 1949, 1961 and 1964).

* * * * *

Clemson recorded four straight shutouts at home during the 1948 season.

* * * * *

Clemson has shutout opponents 25 times in "Death Valley." (Presbyterian 9 times; N. C. State 4; Furman, Duquesne and Wake Forest, twice each; and VPI, Auburn, Citadel, Virginia, Duke and North Carolina, once each). The Tigers have been shutout four times at home in 23 seasons (George Washington in 1942, Maryland in 1953, Duke in 1962 and North Carolina in 1964). Between the Maryland and Duke whitewashes, the Tigers scored in 38 consecutive home games.

* * * * *

The 26-21 victory over North Carolina in 1958 was Coach Frank Howard's 100th coaching victory.

* * * * *

Average Clemson score at home last 23 seasons: 25.4
Average opponent score on Clemson at home: 9.9

It's Different Here

Are college football games everywhere pretty much the same?—the crowds?—the bands?—the cheers? Sure there's a similarity—but it's different here. Each game has its own distinctive flavor — spirit — tradition. So it is with uniforms we manufacture. Into them go many intangibles of experience and skill. This is why an increasing number of Units are scoring with "Uniforms of Distinction" by Clemson Radio Network . . .

Goodrich

DuPuy

The Clemson Football Network will have a new team in starting its 12th year on the air this fall, but the two voices who will bring Tiger gridiron action are not new in radio and TV circles.

Bill Goodrich, who was hired by WFBC-TV and Radio in June as sports director, will take over the play-by-play of game action; and Monty DuPuy, well-known personality with WFBC, will handle the color end.

The Clemson network, operated wholly by the athletic department, has been one of the most successful anywhere. It is one of the nation's largest collegiate networks, having averaged slightly over 50 stations a game for the past four years.

Goodrich, who has broadcast the Ole Miss games for the past seven years, is a 20-year veteran in radio and has 10 years of television experience. He has had a long list of successful play-by-play years and is no stranger to South Carolina sports fans.

While located with WORD in Spartanburg in the early '50's he did Wofford football and basketball and also play-by-play of the Spartanburg Peaches in the old Tri-State League. Later moving to WSPA-TV for two years, he handled the Clemson football films during 1956 and 1957 and broadcast the '55-'56 Tiger basketball games.

DuPuy, who came to WFBC more than 15 years ago, is considered one of the top announcers in the southeast with an extraordinary ability to interview successfully people from all walks of life, whether they be sports personalities or coaches, or leaders in the fashion world. Monty is also known for his insistence on perfection. A researcher and a statistician, DuPuy's smooth flowing delivery will make an excellent contrast to the hard driving, rapid play-by-play description by Goodrich.

Goodrich, who has been heard on as many as 275 stations on one football broadcast, brings a wealth of talent to the network. The new "Voice of the Tigers" was sports director of WLBT-TV and WJDX Radio in Jackson, Miss., before coming to WFBC.

Clemson football fans will come to know him with his "Oh, mercy" and "Whoop-e-e" during his broadcasts.

Photography Facilities Tops . . .

Burns

Haralson

Shockley

The Clemson press box is equipped to take care of almost any request for visiting photographers.

Under the guidance of chief photographer Jim Burns, the facilities during a football game are available to any bonafide newspaper, press association or TV cameraman.

A 27-foot open section on the second deck of the press box is reserved for visiting and team movies. If there is remaining space, TV film is also shot from this point. If not, still photographers, as well as movies, have at their disposal the entire roof, which stretches over 30 yards.

Within the press box is a complete dark room where film can be loaded, processed and wire photos transmitted during the game.

Burns and Charles Haralson take game movies, running two cameras (one for coaches and one for TV). The necessary number of prints are made for scouting, exchange with other schools and showing at alumni meetings.

Main use of the TV copy is for the Frank Howard Show, shown on a four-station network the Sunday after each game, originating in the studios of WSPA-TV, Spartanburg, featuring Howard, one of his assistant coaches, with Verner Tate as anchor man.

Tom Shockley, joining the photo staff for the first time this year, will shoot still action from the field for distribution at the end of the game.

The Clemson press box is the only one in the Atlantic Coast Conference (and one of the few in the nation) equipped with a Fotorite machine for rapid print processing. This unit enables pictures of the game to be printed within minutes after being taken.

Any newspaper or TV station desiring to receive this service can do so simply by requesting it. At the end of the game a set of game action pictures (usually six to eight) is brought to the individual at his working space for use in either Sunday or Monday editions.

Last season over 400 pictures of the four home games were printed and this popular service will again be offered this coming season.

The coordinating services of Burns, Haralson and Shockley is just another reason why the Clemson press box has received the two highest awards from the Football Writers Association of America.

HALF TIME-ANYTIME-MAKE IT MILK!

Busy football weekends call for extra energy. And that calls for a refreshing glass of milk. Milk is nature's vitality drink... that helps you stay in peak condition, sees you through the busiest fall days.

Half time; snacktime, anytime—when you take a break, make it milk. Keep up with the fun with milk's vitality!
